

preparations can actually aggravate health problems.

Even more, correct proportions are as important as correct amounts. Too much of one vital trace element, for example, can inhibit the use of another. What the body needs is a naturally occurring, balanced spectrum of minerals and trace minerals, in a readily assimilable form. That is the idea of the ionic solution found in the Ionex Gold fulvic acid preparation offered exclusively by Solex.

Using a highly innovative and natural micro-ocean process, Solex mines pristine humic materials that are free of heavy metals, from one of the most toxin-free environments on earth. Using highly purified water, we pull the electrolytes back into solution and bring you the most balanced, vital blend of essential minerals, trace minerals and essential amino acids available.

Best of all, everything in Ionex Gold is fully programmable and bioenergetic. Tune-in to the frequencies you need and turn on the power that will energize your body like never before. Start experiencing good vibrations every day, all day long!

The Essence of Life

At the dawn of biological life, the Earth was bathed in ocean. This fertile, mineral-rich liquid mantle was no sea of tranquility. Dazzling and vibrant, it bristled with sparks of electrical energy dancing over its surface. In fact, it was this ionic bath and its vast web of electrical frequencies that made possible the miracle of life.

We depend upon that ancient ocean today just as the earliest life forms did, carrying it inside ourselves in the form of our human bloodstream and even amniotic fluid.

Solex's Ionex Gold is an exquisitely balanced formulation of minerals, trace elements and other nutrients that come from the same primordial composition of ancient oceans and the mineral-rich plant life that emerged. While converting sunlight into energy, plants absorbed the nutrients from the ocean and organically bound them in an ionic state that makes them completely bioavailable at the cellular level to rejuvenate the body.

Through the process of humification, deposits of mineral-infused vegetation were preserved by the earth in their pristine state. Solex has uncovered such deposits and has found that they are rich in the minerals, trace elements and other nutrients our bodies crave.

At Solex, we boldly declare that the body is the miracle when it comes to rejuvenation. After all, the body can produce many of the nutrients it needs. However, all essential minerals and trace elements must come from your diet to fuel rejuvenation.

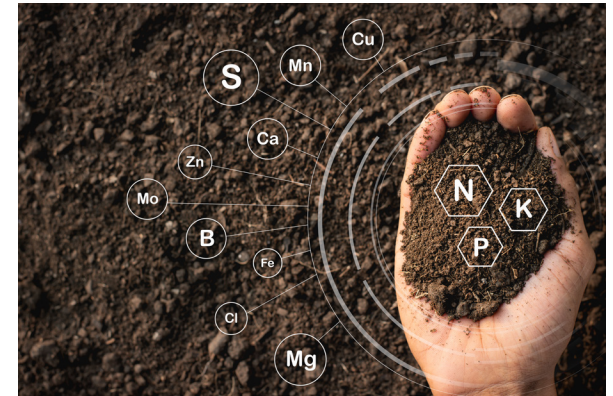

Your body is a vast communications network, far more complex than the Internet — and it all runs by electrical frequencies, with billions of electrical transactions occurring every second. This system relies on electrolyte-charged minerals (or ions) dissolved in solution. Minerals actually control your entire metabolism.

Empty Harvest

One hundred years ago, the human body was thought to be composed of just 14 elements. Today, science has learned that at least 90 elements are vital for optimum health — and the list is growing. Unfortunately, as we learn more and more about the elements we need for good health, we're getting less and less of them from our food supply.

Traditionally, people obtained all the minerals they needed from a diet grounded in nutrient-rich soils. Today, naturally rich soils are a thing of the past. Millennia of weathering, farming, and grazing have gradually depleted our soils of minerals. The impact has been a shorter lifespan than our ancient ancestors enjoyed.

Interestingly, populations like the Hunza, the Vilacamba and even inhabitants of the Caucasus mountains of Georgia, on average, all live much longer than the rest of us with almost no lost capacity — well past the age of 100. What they all have in common are natural, mineral-rich water supplies. In other words, these centenarian cultures are all nourished by a rich source of liquid ionic minerals — their own dietary “ocean” of sorts.

The Full, Natural Ionic Spectrum

Humans cannot absorb or utilize pure, raw minerals. Much of the mineral content in over-the-counter supplements, such as iron or calcium, is not bioavailable and cannot be absorbed. Rather, such
